

Bloody Viet Nam Battle

South Lists
40 Killed;
80 Wounded

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Vietnamese and U.S. Army officers expected trouble when they planned a weekend attack on a Communist guerrilla unit deep in the Mekong Delta.

Their fears were well founded. South Vietnamese troops suffered their worst defeat in nine months. Government casualties were listed at 40 dead and 80 wounded, including 13 American wounded.

The government estimated enemy casualties at 30 dead. No prisoners were taken. Only four bodies were found.

The battle, termed by U. S. advisers "the bloodiest nose" given President Ngo Dinh Diem's forces since a similar defeat Jan. 2, took place in a remote area of rice paddies and palm groves near Loc Ninh, 140 miles southeast of Saigon.

A considerable distance from helicopter bases and out of reach of government artillery, the sector has long been infiltrated by guerrillas.

Entrenched in fortified positions, Viet Cong heavy machine guns cut up two waves of South Vietnamese troops carried in by U.S. helicopters.

Two Teen-age Girls Hurt In Accident

Two teen-age girls were seriously injured in a one-car accident in Cole Camp shortly before midnight Sunday. Two boys in the car were hurt, but not seriously, when the car they were riding in crashed against one tree and bounced off to strike another, just north of the Otten Truck Lines station on Benton County Route J, in north Cole Camp.

The girls injured were Margaret Brauer, 16, daughter of Mrs. Dora Brauer, who was reportedly driving the 1954 Buick sedan of Kenneth Ebeling, 21, of Lonia, and Joan Bockelman, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Bockelman of Cole Camp.

Miss Brauer suffered a severe laceration across the left forehead and into the scalp, laceration of the left knee and possible fracture of the knee cap. She also suffered a possible skull injury.

Miss Bockelman received a three-inch laceration, starting at the bridge of her nose and going straight up on her forehead. Also multiple abrasions and slight cuts of the knees. It took nine stitches to close the head wound.

The two girls were first taken to the clinic of Dr. Arturo Gonzalez in Cole Camp for emergency treatment and then to the Bothwell Hospital in Sedalia in two ambulances from the Fox Funeral Home.

Both were treated by Dr. Gonzalez and Dr. R. A. Enoch at the Bothwell.

Ebeling suffered a bruised right shoulder, and a slight cut on the forehead and complained of a chest injury.

LeRoy Eckhoff, 19, Cole Camp, also a passenger in the car escaped injury.

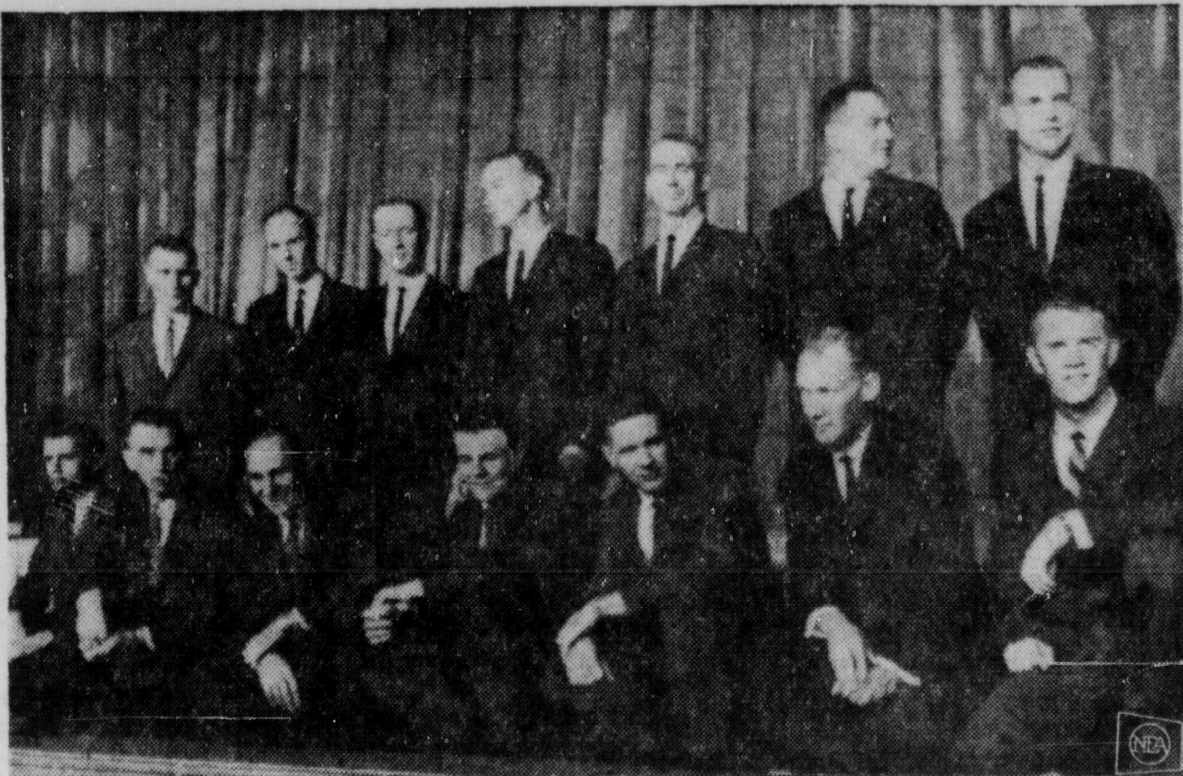

According to Ebeling, Miss Brauer was headed south on J and going into a jog in the road applied the brakes. The car started skidding on the gravel road and she lost control of the machine. The automobile was extensively damaged.

Ordinance On Sewers In Tonight

Sedalia's City Council meets at 7:30 p.m. tonight in regular session at City Hall and while no agenda has been announced, Mayor L. L. Studer said today that an ordinance halting sewer extensions beyond the city limits will be formally submitted.

The ordinance embodies one of three recommendations made to the council by the citizens sewer bond committee and the ordinance was ordered drawn at the council's Oct. 7 session. Presently, the city's ordinance allows persons residing within a certain distance to connect to city sewers on a rental basis.

The new ordinance, if approved as anticipated, will cease sewer extensions to any area not now using the sewers outside the city limits until the area is duly annexed by vote of city residents.

Mayor Studer said the council tonight will receive an opinion from City Counselor Earl T. Crawford as to whether or not an ordinance halting the issuance of sewer permits, until a successful bond election passes, is necessary. Studer said there is some belief an ordinance is not required and the temporary halt needs only council approval.

No sewer permits have been issued by the city since Tuesday, Oct. 8, when Mayor Studer gave a written order to Plumbing Inspector Herb Wasson after the council had acted on recommendation by the Missouri Water Pollution Board.

Also expected to be brought before the council is a desire of Sedalia's craft union leaders that building permits continue to be issued for new construction despite the halt on sewer connection permits.

Representatives of the craft unions met Saturday morning with Mayor Studer and the mayor indicated today he has prepared a statement concerning the meeting which will be presented to the council.

Building permits were never halted by the council's action on Oct. 7, but permits issued since that date, in the majority, have not required sewer connections. One new house permit bore the notation, "Already has sewer permit."

Studer also said he has received a copy of the list of election judges and clerks from both the Democrat and Republican parties to serve for the sewer bond election Nov. 12.

High Court Rejects Plea By Thompson

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to act on an appeal by Douglas Wayne Thompson, a Californian under sentence of execution in Missouri's gas chamber on conviction of murdering a policeman.

The court rejected the appeal with a notation that it lacked jurisdiction.

Thompson, 28, of Bakersfield, and Sammy Aire Tucker of Fresno, Calif., who admitted they were on a cross-country tour financed by robberies and burglaries, engaged in a gun battle with policemen at Cape Girardeau, Mo., the night of March 10, 1961. Patrolmen Herbert Goss and Donald Crittendon, who had stopped the pair for questioning, were slain.

Tucker was captured shortly after the fight. He was convicted of Crittendon's murder and sentenced to death.

Rev. Cooper

Police Board Chairman To Resign Post

The Rev. Roland P. Cooper, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church at 16th and Quincy, announced to his congregation Sunday that he has accepted the pastorate of the Lakeridge Baptist Church in Denver, Colo.

Acceptance of the new pastorate by Rev. Cooper will leave vacant the chairmanship of the city's Police Personnel Board, which he has headed since the board's inception last spring.

Rev. Cooper was instrumental in efforts which led to the initiation of a merit system for Sedalia's Police Department and has led the six-man bipartisan board through its early and most difficult stages, including the administering of the first Grade C patrolman merit examinations and most recent tests for the position of assistant chief of police.

Rev. Cooper said he will assume duties at the Denver church on Nov. 10. He has pastored the Calvary Baptist Church for 4½ years.

Cooper indicated his formal letter of resignation as chairman of the Police Personnel Board will be submitted to Mayor L. L. Studer within the next few days.

Remodeling Begins On Hotel Bothwell

The first of the remodeling of the Bothwell Hotel started Monday morning with the preparation for flooring in the mezzanine to add additional space to the banquet room.

The petition from post to post between the Ambassador room and the mezzanine, Harry Naugel stated, will be taken out to make the banquet area large enough to accommodate 200 persons.

The mezzanine, Naugel said, will seat an additional 75 persons, and this will make the banquet room in a T-shape. It will provide, also, adequate space for booth displays for conventions.

Sharon Kinne Conviction Is Reversed

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The conviction of Sharon Kinne of Independence, Mo., for slaying her husband, James, was reversed by the Missouri Supreme Court today. The case was sent back to the Jackson County Circuit Court for a new trial.

A jury fixed Mrs. Kinne's punishment at life imprisonment.

The Supreme Court said she did not have a fair trial because a panel of only 34 jurors was called, instead of the 47 required by law in a case where the penalty is death or life imprisonment. This cut down the number of her challenges.

The court also found fault with the action of the trial court in allowing the prosecuting attorney to cross examine his own witness, John Boldizs, who also lived in Independence and had known Mrs. Kinne since high school days.

He testified he had had sexual relations with Mrs. Kinne both before and after her marriage. One night when they were parked off Phelps Road, he said she offered him a thousand dollars to kill her husband but made the statement "in a joking way."

The state sought to show that in his testimony before the grand jury, Boldizs said Mrs. Kinne made the offer seriously.

It was the second time the Supreme Court had reversed the case.

Last January it overturned the conviction because of the failure to have enough jurors on the panel.

Then a rehearing was granted on the issue of Boldizs' testimony and today's opinion said that also provided grounds for a new trial.

High Court Orders Genovese Conviction Reconsideration

East Coast Raked By Hurricane

Gale Force Winds
Whip Coast Of North Carolina

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hurricane Ginny raked the North Carolina coast with gale force winds today and whipped up heavy seas as it remained centered 100 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras. One ship with 10 men aboard was reported missing. Another was in trouble.

The Weather Bureau reported that Ginny was expected to move east northeast about 5 m.p.h. during the next 12 hours with no drop in strength.

The storm spun 90 m.p.h. winds out for 60 miles around its center and reached out with gale force winds for 250 miles to the north and east and 170 miles to the south and west.

Waves of 25 to 30 feet were reported lashing the Diamond Shoals lightship off Cape Hatteras.

Rescue planes and a Coast Guard cutter sped into the storm area in search of a decommissioned Navy picket ship, the Fogg, with an officer and nine enlisted men aboard.

The vessel, formerly a destroyer-escort, was being towed by the tug Salish when the tow line parted 45 miles southeast of Cape Lookout.

The Fogg has no power of its own and hasn't been heard from since the line parted.

The Navy said the seas in that area are running 40 to 50 feet high.

The Salish was also reported having difficulty steering in the high seas, fierce winds and rain.

Winds buffeting the coast cut off telephone connections between the mainland and North Carolina's string of sandy islands, known as the Outer Banks. There was no indication, so officials said, that residents of the often storm swept island would have to be evacuated.

The Navy stood watch at its big Norfolk, Va., base to evacuate planes if need be in the face of Ginny's winds.

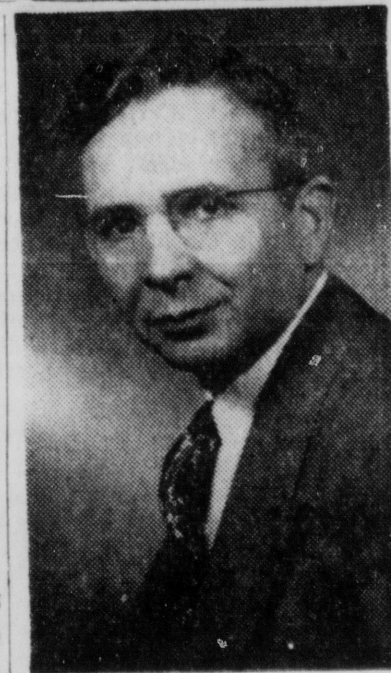

Civil defense and other emergency agencies were on alert in the areas.

North Carolina officials suspended operations of ferries at Oregon and Hatteras inlets early Sunday because of rough water and high winds.

A partially completed bridge across Oregon Inlet was opened to allow motorists to leave the Outer Banks.

During the night the Weather Bureau posted hurricane warnings for the Hatteras vicinity and ordered a hurricane watch for the coastal area from Nags Head to Cape Lookout, N.C.

Gale warnings flew from Block Island south to Myrtle Beach, S.C., and over the southern Chesapeake Bay.

The dead: Mrs. Ruby Spalding, 39, of Eldon, Mo.; Robert Still, 49, of Shreveport, La.; and Amos Barksdale, 69, of Denton, Tex.

Mrs. Spalding was shot early Saturday while hunting 20 miles northeast of Craig with her brother-in-law, William E. Spalding of Eugene, Mo.

He was charged in justice court in Craig with careless and reckless hunting, was found guilty and fined $100, according to Harry Dobbs, Craig area supervisor for the state game and fish department.

New York Circuit Ruling Is Ordered Set Aside

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today ordered reconsideration of the narcotics law conviction of Vito Genovese, reputed overlord of organized crime in this country.

Genovese, 66-year-old native of Italy, was described in recent Senate crime hearings as kingpin of a nationwide crime syndicate known as Cosa Nostra. He is serving a 15-year sentence in Leavenworth, Kan., Penitentiary.

The case of Genovese and nine others convicted with him was sent back to the U.S. Circuit Court in New York for reconsideration in light of a Supreme Court decision last May 27 in another case. Justices Clark, Harlan and White dissented from today's action.

The Supreme Court acted in the case of Genovese and the others with a brief order which directed that the judgment of the circuit court in New York upholding their conviction should be set aside pending reconsideration.

The May decision was in the case of Alvin R. Campbell and two others, who were convicted in a bank robbery. The Supreme Court's decision in the Campbell case held that an FBI agent who had interviewed a witness should have turned over to the defense his notes of the interview.

The trial judge in the Campbell case had refused permission for production of the notes, and for production of a report on the interview.

Justice Clark, who wrote a two-paragraph dissent, in which Justices Harlan and White joined, said he realized that the Supreme Court was not deciding today that the Campbell case governed the Genovese case; also that the Supreme Court was not implying how the circuit court should decide the Genovese case on reconsideration.

Seat Belt May Have Saved Life

A seat belt could have been the piece of equipment that saved the life of Robert Arnold McFarland, cable splicing superintendent for the ITT Kellogg Co. in an accident at the junction of Highway 52 and Route 222 in southwest Pettis County about 10 a.m. Monday.

McFarland, headed east on Highway 52, noticed a tractor-trailer low-boy unit, loaded with a 13-ton power shovel pulling out from the south on Route 222, attempting to make a left turn and head west on Highway 52.

According to Sgt. E. W. Van Winkle of the Highway Patrol, who investigated the accident, McFarland immediately applied the brakes on the 1961 station wagon, also owned by the ITT Kellogg firm, skidded 322 feet, hit the tractor unit almost center of the left door and came to a halt.

The impact was so great the tractor unit was moved some seven feet. The front of the station wagon was almost under the unit.

McFarland, who suffered lacerations to the face, left arm, left hip and leg and a broken left knee, said he had his safety belt fastened when his vehicle hit the truck, near the left gasoline tank or "sidesaddle." He said the first thing he thought of was the fire that might occur and wondered how he could unfasten the safety belt in time to escape the possible blaze.

The truck did not catch fire, however.

McFarland was taken to Bothwell Hospital by the Ewing ambulance, where he was treated by Dr. R. A. Enoch, Sedalia, and Dr. John L. Watson, Cole Camp.

The driver of the tractor unit, Glen E. Huffman, Crestview Trailer Court, and a passenger in the unit, Floyd N. Wright, 217 South Gentry, were apparently not injured.

The front end of the station wagon came to rest almost under the tractor unit. Damage to the vehicles was not estimated immediately.

Fire Losses Expected To Cost Millions

Little Relief For Nation's Drought Problem

CHICAGO (AP) — The drought belt extending from Texas to New England remained explosively dry over the weekend as the effect on the nation's economy deepened.

Scattered rains brought scant relief to some spots, but the loss to crops and property from the dryness and accompanying fires is expected to run into the millions of dollars.

Fires have burned across thousands of acres of forests and woodlands. Pastures have turned brown. Wells and farm ponds have gone dry. Water is being rationed in some communities. The shortage of water has been felt in some of the major cities in the East.

The drought has delayed the seeding of winter wheat in the Great Plains. Livestock producers in many areas have marketed their cattle early because of shortage of feed and water. Milk production in many areas was far below seasonal levels.

Officials in several eastern and Midwest States have ordered the closing of many forests and woodlands. Hunting and fishing have been banned.

Although light rain fell in central sections of the nation over the weekend, Weather Bureau officials said heavy rains are needed.

A storm off the Atlantic Coast became a hurricane Sunday night. The hurricane, named Ginny, was accompanied by winds up to 85 m.p.h. A Weather Bureau forecaster said the storm, about 90 miles southeast off Cape Hatteras, N.C., could bring more wind than rain and thus increase the fire hazard in the parched Eastern forests.

On the bright side of the dismal weather picture, the nation's major winter vegetable and citrus growing regions — Florida, California and the lower Rio Grande Valley — reported favorable growing conditions.

Mystery Call Tells Owner, Car Stolen

A new twist in local thievery occurred late Saturday night or early Saturday morning. The thief or thieves notified the owner. Missing in the darkness of the night was an automobile Ford model "A" frame with a V-8 Ford motor, with wheels and tires and in running condition.

The automobile was in the process of being reconstructed and all that was left was replacing the body of the vehicle. The vehicle is owned by Larry Perkins, 901 South Mildred.

It was 12:45 a.m. Sunday when Perkins received a telephone call and the party said, "Your car is down here at the police station. It was towed away by the police."

Perkins then called the police to see what was going on and informed them of his car supposedly being at police headquarters. Police checked outside thinking possibly someone might be playing a joke on him — but no automobile. Perkins was so informed.

According to Perkins the chassis was parked in his yard and must have been towed away. He told officers he had been working on it for about three months.

No further information has evaluated regarding the vehicle.

Pasture Winners

In spite of the drought, business in the Pasture of the Month contest picked up this month with seven nominations.

In the south side of the county, nominees included Carl E. Johnson, Charles H. Brown, C. W. Monsees, and Ralph Chaney, with Mr. Chaney being declared the pasture winner.

The Chaney pasture of 25 acres was on the farm of his father, George M. Chaney, which he rents for cash rent. Eight acres of it has been seeded for some time while the rest was planted three years ago. It received a top dressing in January of 30-30-30.

The pasture is primarily fescue with a scattered stand of lespedeza. The pasture was first combined for seed and 14 cows and their calves and two bulls were put on it the first of August. Since then 22 heifers have been added and the committee reported an abundance of pasture. They did say some other pasture was also available which kept this one from being overgrazed.

Some problems were encountered with the north side contest. I had nominated the pasture of Irwin Smith, J. E. Wilson had sent in a card for himself, and Murray Wood of Houstonia had told me what a good pasture he had, so I filled out a card for him.

The judges did not find Mr. Wood at home and could not locate his pasture. Both the other nominees had removed their cattle from their pasture before the judges arrived. However, on a basis of the scores of the two pastures, the one belonging to Irwin Smith was named winner for the north side of the county for the month of October.

Tested Bull Sale Nov. 13

The University of Missouri tested bull sale is scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 13, and a catalog will be available. Interested and prospective buyers can see a copy of the catalog at the University Extension Center or they can write to John Massey, extension livestock specialist, 130 Mumford Hall, Columbia, Mo.

The catalog will contain information on an adjusted 210-day weaning weight, average daily gain on feed, adjusted 365-day weight, and extended three-generation pedigree.

About one-eighth of the bulls will have feed efficiency data and one-half of the bulls will have loin eye estimates based on ultra-sonic measurements.

University Tour Nov. 13

The opportunity to attend the tested bull sale will be one of the features of the University tour made by livestock men on Wednesday, Nov. 13. A bus will leave from Liberty Park at 8 a.m. and those making the tour will have the opportunity to visit the swine farm, the swine and bull evaluation stations, the veterinary school and clinic, sit in at the tested bull sale and then observe some demonstration work over at the veterinary clinic. The bus will be back at Sedalia by 6 p.m.

Tour tickets cost $2 and are available at the University Extension Center, from the swine development committee or the county livestock committee.

Shatter Cane Dangerous For Grazing

Much of the grain sorghum has already been harvested. Volunteer sorghum is showing up in some fields.

Extension Field Crops Specialist Ross Fleetwood says volunteer sorghum, frequently called shatter cane, is definitely a sorghum and carries a potential for prussic acid poisoning.

Like any other sorghum, this danger is greater when the plant is under stress. Thus a severe drought, disease or insect damage, or a killing frost may cause an accumulation of lethal quantities of prussic acid.

There are no practical quick tests for this condition. The only safeguard is to use all precautions possible when turning livestock into sorghum fields. These include feeding well before hand, watching closely during the period immediately after turning into pasture, and arranging for quick veterinary services during the first two to three hours if needed.

Spring Alfalfa Seedings

This year's dry fall raises a question regarding the advantages and disadvantages of fall or spring seedings of alfalfa.

Spring seedings face three serious hazards. First, to secure the early growth desired to withstand drought, early seeding is in order. Too early plantings may be killed by late spring freezes.

Secondly, early severe drought conditions may cause the little seedlings to perish before they develop deep roots. Third, if moisture conditions are average or above, summer grasses are apt to crowd out the alfalfa.

Dairy School at Harrisonville

Interested dairymen of this area have the opportunity to participate in the four-day dairy school to be held at Harrisonville on the four Wednesdays of Nov. 6, 13 and 20, and Dec. 4.

This is a school similar to the one held last year at Columbia and which was attended only by William P. McCune from Pettis County. This year four of them are held out in the state including this one.

Each session starts at 10 a.m. and ends about 3 p.m. Generally the morning discussions are on feeding and the afternoon ones on economics of the dairy farm. Registration is $15 and includes the noon lunch on each of the four days. Further information can be obtained at the University Extension Center in your county.

ADA Meeting at Sedalia Nov. 7
Dairy farmers of District 4 of the American Dairy Association, usually called ADA, will have their annual meeting at Sedalia on the evening of Thursday, Nov. 7. The meeting will be in the Smith-Cotton High School cafeteria and will start at 7:30 p.m. Counties in District 4 include: Platte, Clay, Caldwell, Ray, Carroll, Saline, Lafayette, Johnson, Cass, Jackson and Pettis. Pettis County has three directors on the district board including Russell McFarland, Joe W. Davis, and Earl Wood.

Much information about the dairy industry and how dairymen can promote their own product will be available at the meeting Thursday night. The meeting will conclude with a dairy lunch.

Three Gunmen Rob Tavern Operators

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Three tavern operators were robbed of an estimated $6,500 early Sunday as they prepared to put the money in a night depository at the Columbia National Bank. The victims were David Beeman, 40; Loyd Griffith, 46, and Robert L. Walker, 30.

Three gunmen wearing plastic masks took the money bags and fled in Beeman's car, abandoning it a few blocks away.

Griffith said he, Beeman and Walker routinely went to the bank in a group for protection against holdups.

"It didn't work this time," he added.

Grandfathers Underrated Potents of Nuclear Age

By HAROLD V. STREETER
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—By rough but conservative estimate, there are 34 million grandfathers in these United States.

As only one, I have succeeded with very little effort in thoroughly spoiling two grandchildren. Now, you take your pencil. You figure an average of two grandchildren to one grandfather. Simple multiplication will net you a total which could scare you half to death.

Grandfathering is one of the most underrated potents of our nuclear age.

In the sweat and excitement of the dressing room after his Los Angeles Dodgers swept the New York Yankees under the rug for baseball's world championship, the manager, Walt Alston, was asked what he most wanted to do.

Sit down and count his loot? No.

Sit back and horse-laugh at the critics who had been snarling at his heels for a year? No.

All he wanted was to hurry out to Ohio and go squirrel hunting with his grandson.

Most grandfathers easily wind up as expert spoilers. But there is a technique to it which a newcomer might note.

The "just this once" bit is a good beginning.

Grandson, resplendent in white, is in his high chair all gussied up for a family dinner at grandpa's. His innate sense tells him the parental paddle is far away; and that fawning look in grandfather's eye is worth exploiting.

So he rebels at wearing a bib. During the ensuing pushing and tugging, grandfather makes his move:

"Oh wouldn't it be all right if he ate without it — just this once?"

The end result: The suit is a mess. The dinner is likewise. But grandfather has an "in." He's on his way.

Now you can move dangerously from sympathy to downright deceit.

In a fit of pique, the little darling dashes a glass of milk to the floor. His purple-faced mother, noting the scattered shards and the spread of white liquid over wall-to-wall carpeting, springs up with mayhem in mind.

Grandfather makes his move: "It really was my fault. I reached over to wipe his mouth and accidentally knocked over the glass."

No further instruction needed. As a new grandfather, you are on your way. Next you will become with utmost ease that menace of social circles: The grandson-storyteller.

Determining Value Of A Herd Bull

When selecting a herd sire it is impossible to place a true value on his actual worth if replacement females are retained in the future herd. However, with actual individual, half-sib, and progeny performance data on the prospective sire, you can figure his worth to you in any given year. Therefore, it is very important that you keep good records on your breeding herd in order to have a better idea on standards by which to select a herd sire.

Many rules-of-thumb have been postulated on the value of a herd sire—ranging from the price of five choice calves at weaning time in a commercial herd to half the value of the cow herd on which he will be used in any given year in a purebred herd. Both of the foregoing statements are good estimates if you do not have adequate herd records on which to evaluate your needs more critically. But since cattle production is big business and requires large sums of capital, this alone should encourage us to know all that is possible about each individual animal's performance, in order to make an accurate herd sire selection.

For example, assume you have a cow herd that has been weaning calves that average 400 pounds when weaned at seven months. Say they made an average daily gain of 1.6 pounds from birth to weaning and graded high-good feeder grade, worth 26 cents a pound. What would be the value of a bull used on 30 cows that could increase the daily gains to two pounds a day and grade choice feeder grade, worth 28 cents a pound.

This means you would have to select a bull that had at least 3.2 pounds average daily gain from birth to weaning, with a middle to high choice conformation, or a B-breeding grade at one year of age. The value of this bull on 30 cows for one breeding season would be $879.60 over and above the value of a bull that would not change the performance of the present herd.

Then if these calves from this superior sire were kept by the breeder and fed out to a market weight of 1050 pounds, the sire would be worth approximately $375 more than the average sire, for a total value of $1,254.60. Therefore, based on the foregoing figure, if the man with the average performance bull was only breaking even, with our present cattle situation he could expect to net approximately $41.80 per head on a 1050-pound steer with the superior sire.

One place to find such a bull is at a tested bull sale. Such a one is being held at Columbia Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 13.

Sky-Diver Is Killed As Chute Hits Wires

TECUMSEH, Mich. (AP)—A 36-year-old sky-diver drifted into high-voltage power lines with his parachute and died instantly Sunday while his wife watched horror-stricken.

Jack Wallace, Ypsilanti, Mich., who had made 75 jumps over four years, made his second jump of the day with Louis Peres, of Detroit, into winds of six-to-eight miles per hour.

Peres hit the airport target, but Wallace, apparently drifting near a busy road, attempted to clear the road and struck and short-circuited two wires.

SOUND SOLUTION—Two farmers fire rocket and pistol as part of noise method used to cope with starlings which endanger grape crop in Rhineland wine districts.

Enrollment Now For Mail-In Record Analysis

Many farmers in Missouri are learning the value of keeping good records. Some are asking what they should do to become cooperators in the main-in-farm record analysis of the University of Missouri extension division, and when they should do it.

Extension Economist Paul Bebermeyer says you should start now. Sometime from now through December you should visit your balanced farming agent or agricultural agent for an explanation of how the system works, what you have to do, and what benefits you will receive. Enroll with him then and pay your service fee of $50.

On Jan. 1 you should take an inventory of real estate and working capital, including machinery, livestock, feed, seed, and supplies, and record it in a hand-in book provided.

During the year you should report monthly farm receipts and expenses on forms provided.

Then on the next Dec. 31 you should fill out the supplementary report on crop production and labor estimate, and again take inventory.

These are the tasks required of those participating in the mail-in farm record analysis.

Ann Landers

Answers Problems Your

Dear Ann Landers: I was fascinated by the letter from the woman who admitted that for 11 years she had been the mistress of a married man. I'm sure her lover is my husband.

I have adored this man with all my heart these past 11 years — and you can add another 11 years for good measure, because there were two other women before this one came along.

I'm in excellent health, contrary to what she believes, but it's far more convenient to tell one's mistress that the wife is mentally ill, or that she suffers from headaches, backaches, exhaustion and so forth. This provides him with an excellent excuse for seeking outside company and it makes the mistress believe she is filling a vital need in his life.

I've dedicated myself to being a good mother, an active and useful member of the community, and I'm determined to hold my head up. Life would be infinitely easier, however, if well-meaning "friends" didn't feel it their moral obligation to tell me what is going on.

I hope to face the future with courage and to wait patiently until my man comes home for good. I will welcome him back and yes—even push his wheel chair—because I love him and I always will.—GRISELDA

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell that mistress of 11 years that her letter scored a bull's eye. It's my husband she has all right, and she can have him.

I've been begging the big clown to clear out for the last six years. I've told him I'm sick and tired of covering up for him with the kids. I've even packed his clothes and ordered him to leave. But do you know what he says? "Honey, that woman can't shine your shoes. Please stick with me until I get this foolishness out of my system."

So I'm sticking — with the clear understanding that the first time he embarrasses me or his children by appearing on a public sidewalk with that dame I'll knock his block off.

Dear Ann Landers: Please wire me collect either yes or no. Did that letter from the 11 year mistress come from Hamilton, Ontario? My husband has been acting funny since 1952 and it all figures. Thanks, Mom—T. C. L.

Dear T. C. L.: Sorry I will not tell you where the letter came from, but I will tell you that it did not come from Hamilton. And I'm not your mother.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm so furious I could chew nails. Thursday's mail brought a Chicago Sun-Times clipping of your column about the woman who has been a mistress for 11 years. Friday morning I received a clipping of the same column—this one from the Detroit Free Press. Saturday I got another clipping—this one from Grand Rapids, Michigan.

My husband and I have been married for 11 years and I can't figure out whether someone thinks we are living together without the benefit of clergy—or whether I'm being told in a not-so-subtle way that my husband has a mistress. What does this sound like to you? —BUNDLE OF NERVES

Dear Bundle: It sounds like you know a needle-artist with an air-travel card. Forget it.

Dear Ann Landers: You'll never print this letter because it doesn't support your stupid, outdated Puritanical advice. As a mistress of seven years standing I would like to say I hope the man doesn't marry her because it will spoil everything. A mistress doesn't have to wash the guy's socks or listen to him snore. Neither does she have to put up with his miserable relatives or his boring boss. I get the man at his best. His wife gets him at his worst. I've been a wife twice and I'll never be one again. This is the life!—GOT IT MADE

He's demonstrating something new for boating enthusiasts—an amphibious trailer which converts instantly to a houseboat. The 17-foot model can be transformed simply by rolling it into the water and attaching a pontoon unit that fits around the sides and rear, as shown in bottom photo. The unit supports the weight of the outside decks and gives the trailer additional stability. Tires and wheel parts do not have to be removed. With a 7½-horsepower motor, a speed top of six miles an hour can be achieved.

Burton Will Play Hamlet In New York

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
PUERTO VILLARTA, Mexico (AP)—A fact sometimes overlooked is that Richard Burton is also an actor.

His performance as a head-line-maker has somewhat overshadowed his acting talent. The American public may be more conscious of this talent late this winter when he brings his "Hamlet" to New York.

He is undertaking once more the role he played longer than any other actor at the Old Vic, winning him praise from Winston Churchill. He explained his reasons as he waited in a local cafe to be called for scenes of "The Night of the Iguana."

"Next year is 1964, the 400th anniversary of the birth of William Shakespeare," he said. "While there is a great deal of celebration in England, there seems to be little in the United States. I felt something should be done about it."

"Also, I recently did a film in England, 'Beckett,' with John Gielgud. He asked me one day why I didn't do Hamlet once more before I got too old. I said I had definite ideas of how I would like to do it this time, and he asked me what they were. They happened to be some of the same ideas he had, so I agreed to do it if he would direct."

Burton, who last did "Hamlet" in 1954, hasn't appeared on the London stage for six years. "The New York theater is more exciting," he said, "and the critics are fair, whereas in London they are merely snide."

Burton has come a long way from Ponthrhydyfen, Wales, where he was born 39 years ago Nov. 10. In some respects his habits are little changed from what they might have been if he had stayed in the mining town.

He is a prodigious drinker. This is his first trip to Mexico, and he has discovered tequila.

"The other night I totaled 21 before I stopped counting," he said. It was out at the beach and Elizabeth (Taylor) and the others on the beach were covered with bites the next day. I had none. I think I discovered something."

In one important respect, his life is different from what it could have been as the 12th of 13 children of a coal miner. He is well on his way to being a rich man.

"I'll actually be making more money from 'Cleopatra' than Elizabeth will," he said. "As a resident of Switzerland, I don't have the same tax structure. She pays straight American income tax."

He can earn a half-million per film, but he will be working for a fraction of that when he plays "Hamlet" in New York. Once more—why? The answer may be that he wants to remind people that he is an actor.

Don Carver Wins First Place In Kansas Enduro

The first annual Kaw Valley Endurance Run for motorcycles was held Sunday, in Topeka, with 45 riders attending. The trail started at Elmont, Kans., a small town north of Topeka, ran northwest then turned east across the Potawatomi Indian Reservation for some 70 miles of brush, mud and trails. The run ended back at Elmont with only 14 riders of the 45 starters completing the entire course and making all 6 check points.

Don Carver of Sedalia was one of the 14 finishers and winner of the beautiful first place trophy in the small motors class. Carver stated that a light rain in the morning made all dirt roads and trails slick and dangerous. Many riders spilled their machines but no injuries were reported. Carver had two such accidents, one in the morning while crossing a wooden floored bridge and one in the afternoon while running near 60 miles per hour on a "cow trail." Neither machine or rider was badly damaged.

Don Baker and Gearry Gordon, also of Sedalia, competed in the run but Baker had engine trouble and Gordon ran out of gas. Gordon stated next time he would tie a 5 gallon can on the cycle and he would have no more gas troubles.

Dexter. Preceding him in death were his parents and one brother.

Involved was a 1955 Chevrolet sedan driven by Clayton S. Stillman, 65, of 1603 West 20th, traveling south on Barrett and a 1959 Oldsmobile sedan driven east on 14th Street by Mrs. Nina K. Barnard, 33, Windsor. The right front of the Chevrolet was damaged but was removed from accident scene under its own power. The left front of the Oldsmobile was damaged and had to be towed off by Bacon's wrecker.

Mrs. Velma Glasgow, 60, a passenger in one of the cars received minor injuries and was treated at the Bothwell hospital.

Two automobiles were in collision at Broadway and Grand Ave., about 3:57 o'clock Sunday afternoon resulting in damage to the vehicles but no injuries to occupants.

Involved were a 1954 Plymouth sedan driven by Gary L. Underwood, 23, 1514 East Seventh, which was headed west on Broadway and a 1963 Dodge sedan driven by Miss Shirley A. Turner, 17, of 1614 Liberty Park, who was turning east off of Grand.

Miss Turner's car went out of control when it struck a slick spot on the pavement and skidded into the side of the Plymouth which was stopped for a red traffic light.

The Turner car had to be towed off by Bacon's wrecker while the Plymouth was driven away under its own power.

The 1955 Buick sedan of Robert R. Moore, 323 West Fourth Street, was damaged about 8:45 o'clock Sunday evening when struck by a hit-and-run driver. The accident occurred at Sixteenth Street and Collins while Moore's car was parked.

Moore made the report to the police. The front bumper of his car was damaged.

Three automobiles were extensively damaged in a three car accident in the 1100 block on South Osage about 10:20 p.m. Saturday night. Occupants of one vehicle received minor cuts, none of whom went to the hospital for treatment.

According to the police report, the accident occurred when one car struck two parked vehicles as it traveled south on Osage. The moving car was a 1959 Thunderbird two-door hardtop driven by Elwood Harrington, 26, 1411 West Main Street.

The Thunderbird first struck the parked 1955 Buick two-door hardtop sedan of Paul Schultz, 2407 Margaret Avenue, which was parked front of 1105 South Osage, then swerved to the right and struck the left rear of a 1957 two-door Plymouth sedan, swerved around backward and barely bumped a street light pole.

The left front end of the Buick was mashed in, and the right rear of the Plymouth smashed. The left side of the Thunderbird was ripped and smashed when it struck the Buick and the right rear fender and tail-

Key Role in Viet Nam Seen In Actions of Diem Regime

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The war against communism in South Viet Nam—with the security of a vastly strategic area at stake—can be lost. It can be won, too. Hopes were high not long ago.

If South Viet Nam goes, it will be lost in the presidential palace in Saigon, where a frightened regime seems to be playing Vietnamese roulette with the future of all Southeast Asia.

Perhaps the war never can be wholly won while South Viet Nam has a Communist neighbor in the north. But even in his sea of confusion and frustration, it is possible to hope that the back of the Viet Cong Communist effort can be broken and a reasonable amount of peace restored.

The educated element of the Vietnamese is stirring painfully. Jails in Saigon are full to the bursting point with political prisoners. Police brutalities, the beating of students and the police state spying, interrogation and repression can have a chain reaction which can severely damage the effort to crush the Viet Cong.

Young men ask whether their government is any better than the Communist one in North Viet Nam.

Most Americans believe this war could be won if President Ngo Dinh Diem alone headed the South Viet Nam government. But the man called "President No. Two"—who may have more power than the president himself and who exercises enormous influence on him—is the big problem. Many Americans believe this war cannot be won while Ngo Dinh Nhu, the president's brother who holds the modest title of "counselor," is around.

The main issue is not whether South Viet Nam has an authoritarian government or a dictatorship or whatever Westerners choose to call it. Such labels do not apply in Southeast Asia. The country can hardly absorb anything remotely

Merchants Cater to Needs Of Expanding Teen Market

Editors note—Teen-agers, the fastest growing segment of the population, have emerged since World War II as a dynamic factor in the economy. This first of two articles tells the size and impact of their multibillion-dollar purchasing power.

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — There's gold in those blue jeans pockets. Teen-agers have billions of dollars to spend.

The market they make up is a phenomenon of modern merchandising.

Merchants who were in the habit of lumping youngsters' spending with that of the family are going all out to cater to their widely diversified needs and desires.

They realize now that the teen-age market is independent and expanding rapidly.

It is estimated that there are 11,065,000 teen-age girls in the United States and that there will be 13,116,000 by 1970.

They have $6.3 billion a year of their own to spend.

There are more than nine million boys 14 to 17 years old—"teen-men," the storekeepers like to call them.

These youths have an estimated $16 billion of expendable income.

The rising proportion of youthful consumers in the population stems from the post-World War II surge in the birth rate.

The increase in the U.S. population between 1960 and 1970 is estimated at between 12 and 22 per cent. But the number of youngsters in the free-spending 15-to-19-year-old segment will spurt more than 40 per cent.

"Until after World War II business had never shown much interest in the young woman under 20—in fact no one did except teen-age boys," says Enid A. Haupt, editor of Seventeen magazine, a publication for girls.

"In just this short span of time teens have catapulted into the economic limelight, their pockets bulging with dollars to spend, their spirits filled with the desire for new things, new experiences, new loyalties.

"They have become a separate and distinct group in our society—they're the new frontier of the economy—they're the unexpected bonanza for industry."

The boys represent an even bigger market than girls as far as their own money is concerned. That's because many pad out their allowances from the family with jobs after school and on weekends.

Young buyers are highly conscious of brand names promoted in advertisements, marketing analysts have found.

The teen-age market is wide open to the alert advertiser, says Eugene Gilbert, president of Eugene Gilbert Co., research and survey organization.

"Teen-agers are a follow-the-leader group," he adds. "They are more susceptible to advertising than any other age group."

The parked car was pushed onto the sidewalk and into a group of pedestrians waiting for a bus.

All were service personnel or dependents.

Three persons were injured seriously. They were not immediately identified.

The Chances of Mr. Nixon

Few seasoned political observers doubt that the presidential bug still is biting Richard M. Nixon, despite his most ardent protests of disinterest in the 1964 Republican nomination.

Both Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the present front runner, and New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller are political realists—and they say they think Nixon is a candidate. Many another politician believes the same.

There can be no question that certain aspects of Nixon's situation "position" him for such consideration.

He is the middle-road man always acceptable, on paper at least, to both conservative and liberal wings of his party. This would have been an immensely strong point for him had he won the California governorship last fall and gained that great power base.

Not having gained it, he moved to New York. He could not have hoped thereby to find a new power footing. What he did seek was a chance to get into the brighter spotlight which shines on politicians operating in the Washington-New York orbit.

This he has managed. The public prints are currently alive with accounts of Nixon's views and doings. He is getting talked about. He is trying to cast his influence over public discussion of the great issues and to affect the tone of his own party's efforts.

Yet it is one thing to say Nixon is interested and available, quite another to argue that the Republican party might nominate him in 1964.

Nothing in politics is so fixed or so scientific that one could fairly rule him out altogether. Convention deadlocks are extremely rare. But if the 1964 GOP convention at San Francisco got into some kind of stalemate, it might in its extremity turn to Nixon as a man palatable to all wings.

Nevertheless, the likelihood of this happening is not great. The basic reason is that a high proportion of GOP professionals are quite disenchanted with him.

Their recriminations against him for alleged political misjudgments in the 1960 campaign linger on and on. Some of this bitterness, it now appears, existed covertly in the years up to and including 1960—at a time when these professionals were publicly lauding Nixon.

The deep source of this attitude seems to be their inability to warm up to Nixon. In 1960 their disgruntlement was founded more practically in the fact that Nixon refused to listen to them but insisted on pursuing what they saw as an inflexible course toward defeat.

On top of all this lies wide conviction that, since he lost to President Kennedy in a year when maximum advantage appeared to rest with Nixon, the former vice president would only be beaten more easily another time. They have little taste for a Kennedy-Nixon rerun.

Surely Nixon's name will continue to be high in public notice in the big political months to come. But there is no evidence that it is high in either the hearts or the minds of Republican president-makers.

"The Trouble Is, Doc, I Can't Tell Whether It's a Nightmare or a Premonition"

DALLAS MORNING NEWS: Sinners All.—"Everybody is a sinner in agricultural trade," Philip H. Trezise of the U.S. State Department commented in discussing European Common Market barriers to our farm products. "We all have subsidies and supports for agricultural producers . . . devices for insulating producers from import competition."

American farmers and businessmen alike often overlook this. European restrictions on American poultry, for example, are causing outraged protest at this time, while the home team is busy figuring out how to dump our surpluses of farm products abroad and keep out Japanese textiles, Australian wool, Brazilian cotton, Argentine beef and other commodities that compete with homegrown items.

It's hard to be consistent, much easier to be human by ignoring our own particular brand of economic sinning.

Tito: the 'Middle Man' of Communism

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON — Josip Broz Tito, now making a controversial tour through the United States, has been called the "middle man of communism." This is because, he has been castigated by both the extreme right and the extreme left.

He has been excoriated as a threat to the United States by Senators John Tower, R-Texas, Frank Lausche, D-Ohio, William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Henry Jackson, D-Wash., because Eisenhower sold Tito $1-300,000 worth of surplus F-86D Sabre-jets which Kennedy later delivered.

Simultaneously he was blasted by the Chinese Reds as a "tool of American military imperialism" because he bought these same Sabre-jets.

The truth is that Tito is neither a tool of American militarism nor a threat to the United States. Nor is he "a degenerate who sided with the sworn enemies of communism," as Joe Stalin once described him.

He is a Communist moderate who has put 80 per cent of the farm land in the hands of individual farmers, let small business run itself, and states quite frankly that his country has departed from the original doctrine of communism. Frequently also he has cast Yugoslavia's vote in the United Nations on the side of the United States and against Russia.

If any European Communist could serve as a sort of middle man to improve relations between the USA and USSR it would be Tito; which is one reason his talks with President Kennedy, Secretary of State Rusk and Adlai Stevenson at the UN are so important.

When I interviewed Tito last year at his summer island on the Adriatic, he shied away from being a middle man between the USA and USSR; but you could see that he was eager to improve relations.

Tito Was Prophetic to DP

"I would not like to be a mediator," he said. "But if and when I see Khrushchev I will give him my opinions. . . . And I can give this to President Kennedy if I should have the opportunity to meet him."

"Whether my ideas will be received as useful is a different question," he continued. "I have previously told Premier Khrushchev both orally and in writing how we view international problems, and I must say that I did not counter any resistance. Premier Khrushchev appreciates opinions, and I have noticed that this is true of leading Americans as well."

Tito was both frank and prophetic in what he told me in August 1962. Almost everything he said has now come true. Here is the score-card:

1. He told me that he would go to Moscow before the end of the year. He went in December. He said: "I have been invited

The World Today

No Heat Rays In Presidential Race

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Luckily for the politicians of both parties, they have a year to work themselves into a lather for the 1964 presidential campaign.

It would be dull, indeed, if it were held tomorrow.

At this moment neither President Kennedy nor two of the most prominent Republican presidential hopefuls — New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater — are giving off heat rays.

There are no crises. None is in sight. The country as a whole is complacent. The evidence for that is in the almost incredible tardiness of Congress which would be a lot livelier if it were under heavy public pressure.

President Kennedy seems to be banking on the idea of making his main campaign theme peace and prosperity—provided that between now and the 1964 race things turn out the way he hopes.

Such a theme, while it might prove very successful for him at the polls, is hardly exciting. Kennedy outlined it at his news conference Oct. 9 and drummed on it a bit, although obliquely, over the weekend.

At his news conference Kennedy said that if Congress passes his tax cut bill the economy will be buoyant in 1964 and he expressed the wish that by this time next year the chances of war will have been reduced.

In an address at the University of Maine last Saturday he mentioned some of the "gains we have made down the road to peace" although he spent most of his time warning that any total peace is a long way off.

In a sense his talk was a defense against some of the criticism already thrown at him—by Goldwater, for instance — for agreements like the limited nuclear test ban and approval of any U.S. wheat sales to the Communist bloc.

His point was that his administration is doing what it can to assure peace. There wasn't anything inflammable about it. But at this point Rockefeller and Goldwater aren't very fiery, either.

They both have pecked away at the President's performance but they are unable to agree on what to peck away at, which leaves Kennedy in the wonderful political position of being able to say: "Let's you and him fight."

So it's not their fight with Kennedy but with each other that promises the most excitement for at least the starting months of 1964.

If by campaign time there have been no new international crises, or serious setbacks for this country overseas, the campaign heat will probably come mostly from Democratic-Republican differences over running things at home.

We the Women

Possible for Homemaker To Find That Missing Time

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Lack of time is the biggest homemaking problem to three out of five women, according to a recent government survey.

There's not much that can be done to solve that problem for the woman who combines a full time job with homemaking. She will always be pushed for time as long as she carries a double load.

But the full time homemaker can find all kinds of extra time for herself if she looks hard enough for it. Where she will find it, of course, is in the time she squanders on busy work, non-essentials, catering to children's unreasonable demands, putting and spending far more time in errand-running than is necessary.

If she belongs to an organization that doesn't give her anything — either in the way of pleasure or a sense of doing something worthwhile for others — she should resign from it. Yet, most housewives waste time on several such time-consuming activities.

If she is running herself ragged trying to keep up a busy social life, she can stop feeling that she has to accept every invitation that comes her way.

If she is wearing herself out doing things for her children that they are old enough to be doing for themselves, she can change that easily enough. She can also cut down on some of their activities that demand her time as a chauffeur.

If she spends hours every day gossiping on the telephone and with neighbors and watching daytime television, she can set herself a work schedule that has to be finished before she starts. If there's no time for either, after her work is done, she won't be missing too much.

If she uses her telephone instead of her automobile to find out where she can buy what she wants at the price she wants to pay, she can cut down considerably on shopping time.

She can save even more by marketing once or twice a week, instead of once or twice a day, buying staples in larger quantities, and having her teenagers in the family do some of her errand-running for her.

There are enough hours in the day for any homemaker, if she is willing to organize her time to her own advantage.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

Lack of Economy Noted In Cleaning Capitol

Many legislators in the 72nd General Assembly, as well as countless solons in past sessions, argued fiercely for more economy in operating the ever-growing state government. Even Governor Dalton, as have his predecessors, chimes in urging more economy.

Actually, little seems to be done about it except for a lot of "lip service," some feel.

For instance, one operation of the state government seems almost as if it were a luxury item . . . namely the cleaning of the State Capitol. Here, 11 janitors, usually on the job in groups of four or five, clean the corridors and rest rooms.

But, it's up to each individual agency and department to hire its own janitor to keep the office neat.

On the other hand, the University of Missouri, which is comparable to the state offices in size as well as diversity, has a central buildings and grounds crew, with small crews assigned to clean each building.

In the various buildings on the campus at Columbia, a janitor not only has dozens of offices to clean, including ash trays to wash, but also a large number of classrooms.

And, this has been an economical system.

The small staff of janitors employed to keep the State Capitol clean usually work in groups and it's a common sight to see as many as five janitors at one time pushing mops, sponges, down the corridor.

It's almost impossible to find the answer to how the present system, or lack of a system as the case may be, developed. One state official, who hires two full-time janitors, said that as far as he knows it's been this way for a long time.

This official, Charles Trigg, the budget director, uses his janitors not only to clean his offices, but also to mail material and keep his official car clean.

Many of the smaller offices, such as the Commission on Human Rights, join together and each pay $50 a month to a janitor to keep their offices straight and run errands.

Trigg observed that it's almost impossible to determine how much each agency actually budgets for janitorial service since many use their janitors for other purposes as well.

Fall Fire Season Underway in State

It's that time of year again when old Mother Nature brings out her latest Fall fashions with the usual brilliant reds and golds, with her multi-hued wardrobe attracting thousands of visitors to Missouri's woodlands.

But, ominously, it's also that time of year when these bright colors and the ensuing dryness, bring devastating forest fires. Last week, the state reported on one day that 15 separate fires were in progress.

This is as dry a fall as conservation officials remember. Although the outlook for fires is a constant factor now though December, as yet there have been no major fires reported.

But forestry officials are worried and warn residents of wooded areas against burning brush, trash and grass.

Although recent rains have helped cool the state somewhat, they have done little in the way of bringing real moisture. In fact, some areas of Missouri have had no measurable rainfall since early September, officials report.

Although forestry officials say they aren't ready to panic because of the dryness, the hazard does exist. Sportsmen, particularly archers stalking deer, are being urged to help spot, report and fight fires.

In 1952, the Conservation Commission postponed the hunting season because it was felt this would lessen the danger of fires. But the commission found that without hunters in the fields and woods, many fires went undetected until a great deal of damage had been done.

"We still depend upon these hunters," a spokesman for the Conservation Commission said.

Chop Off Weight?—No, There Is No Short Cut

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have a large roll of sagging tissue on my abdomen. Would a plastic operation help me?

A—There is no short cut to weight reduction or the removal of rolls of fat. Many years ago the plastic surgeons tried the type of operation you have in mind, but the results were poor and it is no longer advised. Anyone who really wants to lose weight can do so, but most persons who are overweight give their desire for food first priority and their desire to lose weight second or third priority.

Q—I am 63. In the last few years I notice that if I take milk in any amount I get a severe pain in my chest. Is there any way the milk could be treated so that I could again enjoy it on my cereal?

A—You must have developed an allergy to milk. As long as you have it there is no way to avoid the symptoms without omitting milk from your diet. Although desensitization is often successful for allergy to pollens it is rarely effective for allergy to foods. This is because with pollens we are dealing with a microscopic amount of the offending material while with foods we are dealing with much larger amounts. If there is a source of goat's milk available you might find that you are not allergic to milk in that form.

Q—When my baby was born, part of the afterbirth stayed behind and later I started to bleed. What caused this and what are my chances of it happening again after another baby?

A—What causes part of the afterbirth to remain behind is not known but it happens often enough that every doctor should examine the afterbirth very carefully. When even a small part of it is missing it should be removed at once. Otherwise hemorrhage, sometimes fatal, will surely follow. The chances that this would happen again to you are very slight but, if it did happen, prompt recognition of the fact should lead your doctor to take immediate steps to remove the missing fragment.

Q—Is it all right for me to continue the use of Stelazine over a period of a year or more? What are the side effects of this drug?

A—You are taking one of the many tranquilizers now available and I would certainly not advise its use for so prolonged a period. As with all tranquilizers, the principal side effect is drowsiness, but this drug does not cause side effects when the dosage is small. Since the drug can be obtained only on a doctor's prescription, why don't you talk to your doctor about cutting down and eventually stopping it. Some solution should be sought for whatever emotional problems have been making you so jittery that you had to have a tranquilizer in the first place.

Cynthia Raps Replacement For TV Quiz

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It's not very often that even a dedicated television viewer has an experience like "Laughs for Sale." That is the program, unfortunately, that has replaced Sunday nights "100 grand."

I cannot remember a program so inane, pointless, unfunny and disorganized. If it lasts a couple of weeks, it could make jokes and comedians go out of style.

The idea is to solicit comedy material from writers-new and undiscovered or old and discovered. The material, selected by an unidentified board of experts, is read by professional comedians.

Sunday night the professionals all were good, funny people—Mickey Rooney, Phil Foster, and Shecky Greene—who tried but could not conceal their distaste for the material. Comedienne Cara Williams was around, too, and I suspect that her spot was cut out of an over-long tape. She was the luckiest guest star of the four.

A long time ago Steve Allen had a network show called "Songs for Sale" based on the same idea, but smart arrangements covered a lot of musical sins.

ABC ought to be ashamed of itself for this shabby show.

The same network, earlier Sunday evenings, is experimenting with a 90-minute show called "Arrest and Trial." Sunday night it had a story so full of emotionally disturbed characters it looked like an out-patient clinic for the network's "Breaking Point" psychiatry series.

The plot centered on a strange-acting boy of 14, who talked and acted like a middle-aged man. His mother was killed by a sniper's bullet in the first scenes and the boy had rough treatment from a bullying father. Woven into the tale were other unhappy suspects, including the familiar Korea veteran who has nightmares and the gun-happy juvenile delinquent with permissive parents.

After a long hour and a half, everyone was going off for psychiatry sessions except the wrong-headed father, who was walking off alone, his shoulders sagging with the weight of his guilt.

One show returning for a new season has quietly picked up a new format and is much happier and faster than before. It is NBC's "Joey Bishop Show" on Saturdays.

Joey seems more easy in his role and the format now includes a sort of concealed night-club or variety type entertainment each week. The other night Joey did a stand-up routine—jokes and a good Jimmy Durante impersonation—ostensibly for an audience of one, his television wife. The device is thin but the entertainment is fun and a nice change from the marital misunderstanding gambit.

Fourth Child Born On Same October Day

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP)—Mrs. Larry Farmer gave her three children, who all celebrated birthdays Sunday, a not unexpected gift—a baby brother.

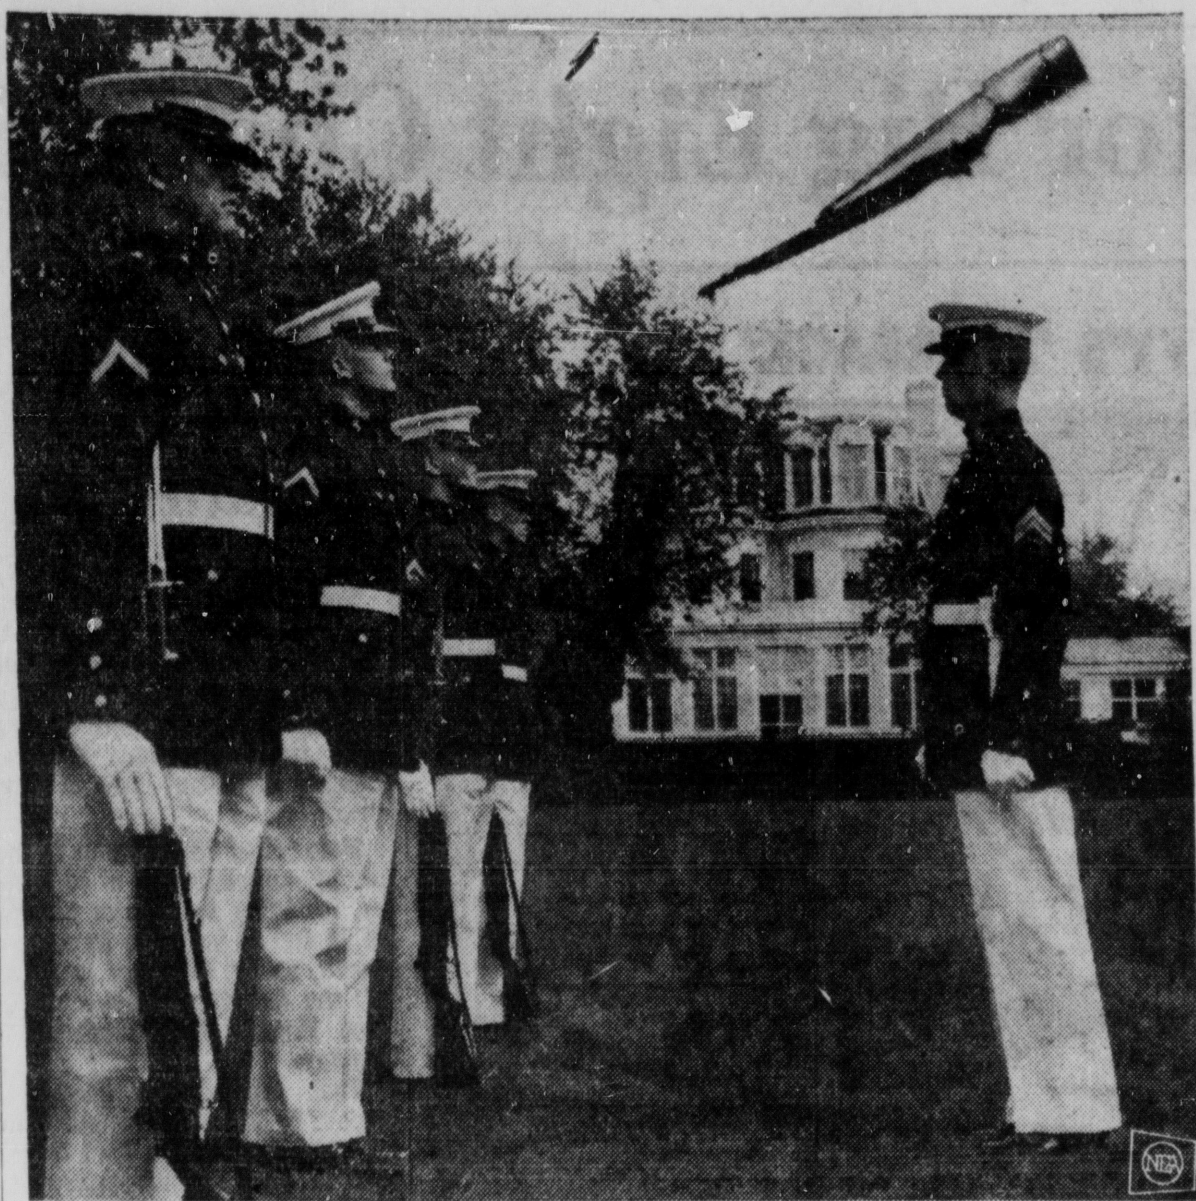

The birth of a 5-pound 13-ounce boy to Mr. and Mrs. Farmer made it official. Now each of the Fauquier County couple's four children have been born on the same day, Oct. 20. The three other children are Debra Sue 7, Larry Wardell Jr. 4, and Timothy John 2.

So in a spirit of brotherhood and good citizenship let us urge our fellow citizens to have a Bible in their homes, to read the Bible, and to record in the Bible their family history. Barry, Rock Reach Accord On Two-front Drive on JFK

EDITOR'S NOTE—Two possibilities for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, in this article give their views on a wide range of foreign and domestic matters. Their statements are in answer to identical questions submitted by The Associated Press.

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater disagree on some vital issues but they are in accord in advocating a two-front attack on President Kennedy in 1964.

In answers to a series of identical questions submitted to them separately by The Associated Press, the two potential contenders for the GOP presidential nomination disclosed a deep division over civil rights legislation.

The New York governor and the Arizona senator voiced opposing views on how to provide medical care for the elderly, the need for right-to-work laws and whether there should be an immediate tax cut.

In the international field they stood together in opposition to an American pull-out from Viet Nam. Both cautioned against being lulled by Soviet overtures for peaceful coexistence. Their answers about what to do about the Cuba problem were relatively similar. They differed in degree over the limited nuclear test-ban treaty's effect.

Rockefeller served notice he did not regard answers to the questions as a substitute for a face-to-face debate with Goldwater over party policies. Goldwater said he was willing to debate "the weaknesses of the Kennedy administration" but saw little value in Republicans debating Republicans.

Both men picked foreign policy and the state of the domestic economy as prime two-pronged issues against Kennedy in 1964.

The governor and the senator were asked if they felt a Republican could defeat Kennedy without strong electoral support from the South, where Goldwater reportedly has much more strength than Rockefeller.

Goldwater said that to defeat Kennedy, would require "substantial electoral support from all sections of the country, not just any particular one."

Rockefeller said he believes "that the Republican nominee, running on a forward-looking platform which really meets the nation's needs, will receive substantial support in every section of the country."

The differences between Goldwater and Rockefeller were sharpest in response to a question as to what, if any, civil rights legislation Congress should pass.

The senator said his "basic feeling is that legislation will not solve the civil rights problem." The governor contended that "the federal government has a deep moral and constitutional responsibility to guarantee equal rights for every American citizen."

Goldwater said: "I completely oppose the public accommodations section (to enforce integration on business firms serving the public) as being unconstitutional and uncalled for."

Rockefeller said a civil rights bill should "contain provisions for stronger voting guarantees, initiative by the attorney general in enforcing civil rights, equal opportunity for employment, non-discriminatory access to public accommodations, and for helping insure public education on a desegregated basis, in compliance with the law of the land."

Goldwater said he believes "there are adequate laws on the books to take care of voting abuses and all that is required is action by the attorney general."

He called a provision of the administration's bill to permit the President to withhold federal grants from states which did not comply with desegregation orders interesting. But he said that as it is written "I doubt that it is either constitutionally or morally correct."

The senator said he would support a provision to permit the attorney general to sue in school integration cases if it were tightly drawn so that it could not be used "to invade other fields."

On some other issues, their views could be summarized this way:

Health care for the elderly: Goldwater — Said care was provided through Kerr-Mills Act. Proposed tax credits or deductions "for any monies paid for the purpose of taking care of the aged."

Rockefeller — Advocated "a broadly based system of health insurance for those over 65, financed by the fiscally sound, contributory payroll tax but offering freedom of individual choice to select voluntary health plan coverage."

Federal right to work law: Goldwater — Said the federal government should not usurp the rights of states to pass such laws. Sponsors legislation to call for an open shop in all states but with provision which would permit states to declare for a union shop.

Rockefeller — Intends to make an "effort to assure that the national Republican party maintains the position it took in its 1960 platform against federal right-to-work legislation."

Tax reduction while there is a deficit: Goldwater — "The answer to this would rest primarily on the rapidity of growth of the domestic economy."

Rockefeller — Said an immediate tax cut "designed to stimulate private investment and savings" and to increase consumers' after-tax income should be combined with "a strict policy of holding the line on federal government spending."

Balancing the budget annually: Goldwater — "The federal budget can and should be balanced during each fiscal year,

Defiance of Court Wrong, Says Senator

The state senator said the Committee on Racial Equality should not have violated a court order to demonstrate at a St. Louis bank against alleged job discrimination.

McNeal made the statements in a speech at the Union Memorial Methodist Church.

except during periods of war or other extreme national emergencies."

Rockefeller — "At the federal level I favor, at the absolute minimum, balancing the budget over the course of the business cycle."

Farm price supports: Goldwater — "The 30 per cent of our agriculture now under the present support program should be slowly withdrawn from it, so that at the end of a reasonable period of time the law of supply and demand will determine the prices the farmers receive."

Rockefeller — Said present price supports do not help the farmers who need help most. He added: "For the low-income farmers we need an approach that is entirely separate from subsidies. For the other farmers, we must gradually adopt a new system of supports which will provide true stabilization of prices but not create an artificially high market price in normal times."

Predict Tight 3-Team Race for Big Eight Championship

See Kansas, Iowa State As Spoilers

Race Between MU, Big Red, Nebraska Seen Shaping Up

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG Associated Press Sports Writer

The Big Red of Oklahoma overcame an all-out effort by Kansas for a winning start in defense of its Big Eight football championship. The outlook now is for a tight three-team race, with Missouri and Nebraska, with Kansas and Iowa State in the role of spoilers.

Iowa State spoiled Kansas title hopes and put the damper on Colorado's first division aims 19-7, but it's doubtful the ambitious Cyclones can handle potent Missouri at Ames Saturday. It's the top game on a four-game conference schedule. Missouri is 2-0, Iowa State 2-1 in the league.

Oklahoma, 1-0, should easily cruise past Kansas State, 0-3, at Manhattan; Kansas, 0-2, figures to get its first conference victory against Oklahoma State 0-2, at Lawrence; and Nebraska 2-1, should stay high in the title picture by beating Colorado, 2-1, at Lincoln.

Missouri's power running game, guided by quarterback Gary Lane, and its stingy defense led by George Seals were too much for Oklahoma State, 28-6, at Stillwater. Monroe Phelps gives Missouri an outside threat and Lane seldom misses the passes he needs most.

Iowa State stopped Colorado cold at Boulder except for a 78-yard scoring run by Bill Harris, and converted two fumbles and a blocked quick kick into points. A 41-yard field goal by Dick Limerick put the Cyclones ahead to stay.

Kansas surprised Oklahoma with an unbalanced line and ripped the Sooners for 269 yards rushing, most against an Oklahoma team in 20 games since Colorado's league games gained 291 in 1961. Gale Sayers had 110 yards in 16 trips, including a 61-yard scoring run, and caught a 7-yard touchdown pass. But Oklahoma found a hole in the Kansas pass defense and always made the big plays it needed.

Norman Smith, a surprise starter at quarterback, and fullback Jim Grisham were the top OU players. Down 10-7, the Big Red moved in front to stay on a 17-yard scoring pass, Bobby Paige to Rick McCurdy. Kansas stormed back with a 66-yard drive, only to lose a fumble at the Sooner 9.

Grisham had 74 of Oklahoma's 216 yards on the ground. Kansas had a 312-296 edge in run-pass yardage but its air game was thwarted by two key interceptions.

Interceptions also proved K-State's downfall against Nebraska, 28-6, at Manhattan. Cornhusker linemen Ron Michka and Larry Tomlinson got the

Rote Letter-Perfect

Chargers Defeat KC Chiefs 38-17

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The San Diego Chargers, a big, fast club piloted by 35-year-old Tobin Rote, appear to be the class of the American Football League after an impressive 38-17 victory over the defending champion Kansas City Chiefs.

Rote was letter-perfect in the second half as he picked Kansas City's defense to pieces with deadeye passing to flanker Lance Alworth. The victory left Sid Gillman's club with a 5-1 record, including two victories over the Chiefs. Kansas City stands 2-3-1. Rote hit 16 of 22 passes for 266 yards. Alworth caught 9 for 232 yards.

"We can't stand any more losses—that's for sure," Coach Hank Stram of Kansas City said after the game.

"No, we can't do anything dramatic with our team at this stage," he said. "We're a good team but San Diego was better today."

Jerry Mays, Chiefs tackle, slammed his helmet into his locker and declared:

"We can't let this get us down. We've just got to get more teed off."

The Chiefs tried to keep control through their running game but made only 78 net yards. Earl Faison, a 262-pound end, and George Gross, 260-pound second and third touchdowns on stolen passes. But K-State's air game, led by passer Larry Corrigan and receiver Ralph McFillen, made it interesting. Nebraska's sophomore Fred Duda, substiting for injured quarterback Dennis Claridge, did a good job.

A sellout crowd of 61,826 at Norman turned out to watch Bud Wilkinson's club successfully regroup after the Texas defeat and the dismissal of Joe Don Looney. This helped lift Big Eight total home attendance to 597,426 for an average of 33,190, just ahead of last year's record pace.

Jack Mitchell, Kansas coach, said it was his team's best game of the season. He said "I don't think we can play any better than we did."

"The boys played hard enough to win and they won't lose to many teams playing that well. I'm not discouraged because we moved the ball so well against the big, tough defensive team like OU."

"Our weakness on pass defense puzzles me, as I thought this was going to be a strong point this season. Of course the fumble, especially the one at the Oklahoma 9 with us trailing 14-10, hurt us a lot."

Kansas quarterback Steve Renko had his best running game of the season, 68 yards in 15 trips. The 210-pound rookie said "It'll help the team if I can continue to run the option well. This will make the pitch-out and sweep effective."

The Kansas line was outstanding all the way against the highly rated Sooner forwards. At Stillwater, the Missouri line led by Seals and alternate center Joe Burkler was the master of the situation. The Cowboys scored on Missouri's third team in the last quarter after the score reached 21-0.

Phil Cutchin, the new OSU coach, said "Missouri is a good, sound football team that is likely to be a long way. They have the best end play we've met and that quarterback Lane is already really good. He's going to be a great one."

Dan Devine, Missouri coach, said "I'm worrying about Iowa State already. I don't know whether we can stop Tom Vaughn."

Doug Weaver, K-State coach, was disappointed in defeat but pleased with his club's effort. He said the story of the game was how strong Nebraska is, and not bad play by his team.

tackle, were outstanding on the Chargers defensive unit.

San Diego scored 7-3 at halftime on Len Dawson's 73-yard scoring pass to Abner Haynes. But Kansas City had the ball for only 10 plays in the third period—only one of them a pass. Rote directed the Chargers in 70 and 86-yard scoring drives. His 44-yard pass to Alworth got the first TD, and Paul Lowe went 7 yards for the second.

San Diego then stopped a 67-yard Kansas City drive at the 13.

Keith Lincoln raced 15 yards, then Rote fired a 72-yard scoring strike to Alworth, who out-jumped Duane Wood at the Chief 37. The Chiefs came back with another drive, moving up 17-24 on Dawson's 7-yard pass to Fred Arbanas. But Lincoln's 76-yarder on the first play after the Chiefs put it on ice.

"Rote did quite a job," Gillman said. "We have two wonderful quarterbacks and that Alworth is fantastic—he can kill anybody."

John Hadl, former Kansas star, quarterbacked them in the second period on two series.

Asked if he thought the Chargers had the western crown sewed up, Gillman said "if we feel we've got it now, we'll go down the drain so fast it won't even be funny."

The Chiefs played at Houston next Sunday, while Oakland plays at San Diego.

Wichita moved into position for a Nov. 16 title showdown with Cincinnati in Missouri Valley football with a 47-14 bombing of Louisville Saturday, while Tulsa stayed in the picture by nudging North Texas 22-21.

Wichita first must get past North Texas with its big line and powerful running backs Saturday at Denton. The Shockers get the edge because of a potent passing game. Passing is the North Texas weakness.

Cincinnati, beaten only by Army, clipped Detroit 35-0 and gained more momentum in its best season in several years. Wichita has lost only to Boston College.

Valley teams face a tough non-conference schedule this Saturday. Cincinnati meets Indiana at Bloomington and Tulsa takes on Arkansas at Fayetteville. Marshall plays at Louisville in the only night game.

This card likely will push the Valley below the .500 mark, again in outside games. The conference stands 7-7 now, counting Dayton's game with Louisville.

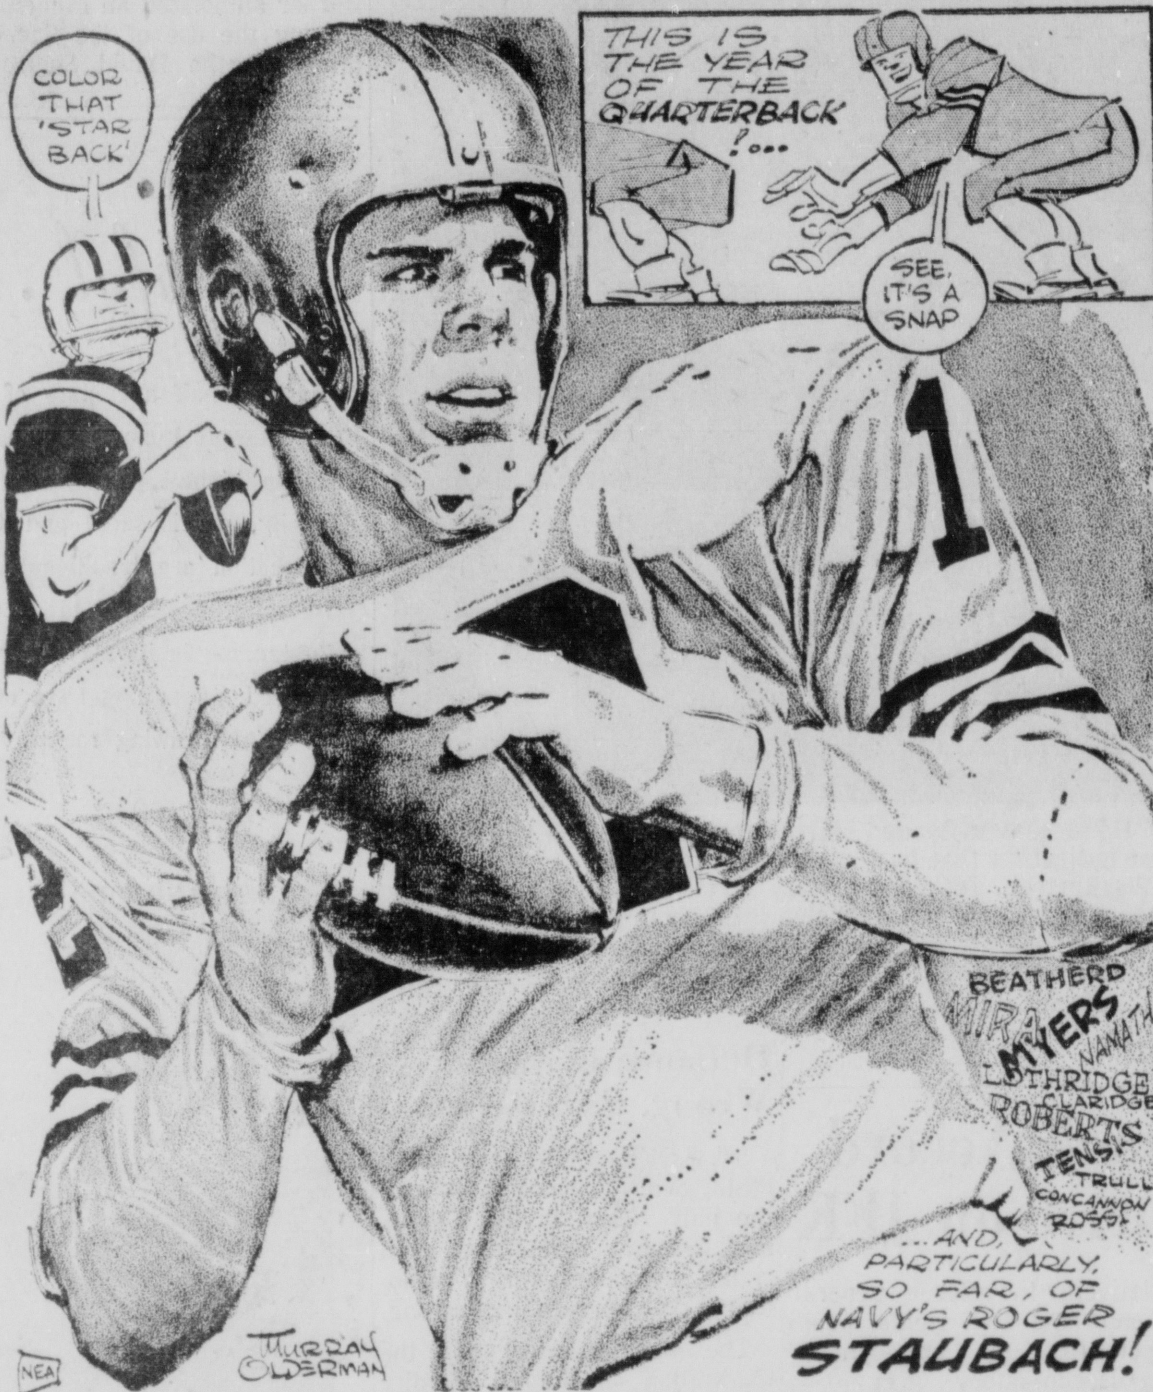

Fullback Dwain Bean of North Texas gained 151 yards with a 7.6-yard average and 10.8 average Bobby Smith 65 on a 10.8 average but Tulsa's pro-type quarterback Bill Van Burkleo needed a pair of two-point conversion passes to get a victory, though.

It was the first time Tulsa has won at Denton.

Wichita quarterback Henry Schichtle fired three touchdown passes and scored twice in the Shockers breeze past Louisville. Chelo Huerta's team had three scoring plays of 60 yards or more. Tom LaFramboise, Louisville quarterback, passed for both his team's touchdowns.

Brig Owens ran 7 and 65 yards for Cincinnati touchdowns. Roger Walz scored once and passed for another TD. Both are rookie quarterbacks.

MCAU Race Settled

William Jewell Completes Grid Slate Without Loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Just as most conference football races are shaping up for the stretch excitement, the 1963 edition of the MCAU race has been settled.

William Jewell has repeated as conference champion, completing its four - game league slate with a perfect record. The clincher came with a 7-0 victory over arch rival Missouri Valley. But it was not easy for William Jewell. Time after time the Cardinal defensive unit was called upon to repel the Viking thrusts. The issue was not settled until the final 55 seconds as William Jewell halted the Vikings on the two.

Tarkio moved up a notch in the MCAU standings by snapping a 7-7 halftime score with a 35-point second half outburst and rolled over Graceland 42-14. Central Methodist stayed winless as Principia, Ill., culped the Eagles 26-6 but Culver-Stockton cracked into the victory column for the first time by edging Illinois College 7-6.

The MIAA just about narrowed itself down to a race between Springfield and Kirksville as both powers won their second conference outings.

Springfield, Missouri's only undefeated and untied team, spotted Cape Girardeau a field goal and then came on to defeat the defending league champions 27-16. Kirksville buried an outmanned Rolla Miners team 41-0. Warrensburg won its first game on the field by slipping by Maryville 13-12. The Mules have been awarded a forfeit victory over Washburn.

Washington stayed unbeaten with a tie as the Bears won over Wabash 24-6, and Lincoln University snapped its four-game losing streak by handing St. Mary of the Plains its sixth straight loss of the season 62-0.

Tobin Rote Drives Team Toward Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tobin Rote, a can't-sit-still guy who probably has played out more options than any other man in pro football, is driving the San Diego Chargers toward their third American Football League divisional title in four years.

Rote rolled up 266 yards in the air by completing 16 of 22 passes, including touchdown pitches of 73 and 44 yards to Lance Alworth, as the Chargers knocked off the defending league champion Kansas City Chiefs 38-17 Sunday.

That boosted the Chargers' record to 5-1 and increased their Western Conference lead to 2 1/2 games over second-place Oakland, 3-4 after walloping the New York Jets 49-26.

The Jets' loss dropped New York into third place in the East behind Houston and Boston tied for the top spot with 4-3 records. The Oilers defeated Buffalo 28-14. The Patriots beat Denver 40-21 in a Friday night game.

Rote, playing in his third pro league, has proved a vital factor in San Diego's return to the top after last year's dethroning, and may wind up playing on a championship outfit for the first time since he guided Detroit to the National League title in 1957.

Rote played out his option at Detroit, when he asked for a

49ers Win First Victory In No. 1 NFL Grid Upset

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lamar McHan, a discard who has been tossed away so often he began to feel as useful as a three of spades in a pinhole deck, has turned a hot hand into the No. 1 upset of the National Football League season.

A 30-year-old journeyman quarterback who wound up at San Francisco three weeks ago in a quick shuffle, McHan completed 10 of 20 passes for 141 yards and one touchdown while guiding the 49ers to their first victory Sunday—20-14 over the previously unbeaten Chicago Bears.

McHan, a Heisman Trophy winner during his college career at Arkansas, turned up at Baltimore last year as the substitute dealer for Johnny Unitas after stops with the Chicago Cardinals and Green Bay Packers. He was cut loose by the Colts this season and considered retiring.

The 49ers, shopping for a quarterback to replace injured John Brodie, first traded for New York's Ralph Guglielmi. Guglielmi declined to report, and the 49ers finally turned to McHan, who mounted San Francisco's most productive offense since opening day.

The upset by the 49ers, whose total scoring output in two previous games consisted of a pair of field goals, threw the Western Conference race into a wide open battle and overshadowed two other developments—Jimmy Brown's career rushing record and Bart Starr's hand injury.

Brown carried 25 times for 144 yards and scored one touchdown on a pass, breaking Joe Perry's rushing record by bringing his total to 8,390 yards as Cleveland whipped Philadelphia 37-7 and became the league's last undefeated team.

Starr, the No. 1 quarterback for Green Bay's defending league champions, suffered a severe injury to his passing hand in a fist-swinging battle with St. Louis' Jimmy Hall during the third period at the Packers' 30-7 romp over the Cardinals.

The Packers' triumph, coupled with the Bears' loss, left Green Bay and Chicago tied for the Western lead with 5-1 records. Cleveland, 6-0, leads the East by two games over St. Louis and New York, both 4-2. Y. A. Tittle passed for four touchdowns in the Giants' 37-21 victory over Dallas, Pittsburgh, came from behind for a 38-27 triumph over Washington, Baltimore edged Detroit 25-21 and Los Angeles downed Minnesota 27-24 for its first victory.

In the American League, San Diego crushed Kansas City 38-17, Houston whipped Buffalo 28-14 and Oakland routed New York 49-26.

McHan led the 49ers on a touchdown drive the first time they had the ball, Jim Vollweiler plunging a yard for the score. Then after Tommy Davis kicked the first of his two field goals, McHan fired a seven-yard TD pass to another former Packer, Gary Knefel, for a 17-0 lead. The Bears never caught up as San Francisco ended a seven-game losing streak.

Frank Ryan was the big man for the Browns with four touchdown passes, a 10-yarder to Brown and a trio to Gary Collins covering 35, 17 and 14 yards. That brought his TD total to a league-leading 16. Brown eclipsed the career rushing mark of 8,296 yards set by Perry over a 14-year span. Brown is in his seventh season.

Jim Taylor scored twice and Tom Moore once on yard smashes and Jerry Kramer kicked three goals for the Packers. Meanwhile, the Cardinals found their league-leading offense stalled. Starr left after the scuffle with Hill, had his hand packed in ice and is scheduled for X rays to determine the extent of the injuries.

Tittle was cut around the left eye in a second-period skirmish, but wound up firing two TD strikes to Phil King and one each to Joe Walton and Del Shofner. Dick Lynch joined the Giants' scorers on an 82-yard run with an interception of a Cowboys' pass.

The Steelers, trailing 27-24, moved ahead to stay in the fourth quarter as Dick Haley intercepted a pass by Redskins' quarterback Norm Snead and rammed 24 yards for the go-ahead touchdown. A fumble led to an additional Pittsburgh TD, a four-yard pass from Ed Brown to Buddy Dial.

The Colts also won on an interception. Andy Nelson picked off a fourth-quarter pass by Milt Plum—the only one attempted by the Lions' quarterback and lugged it 26 yards for the clinching score.

The Rams, who had lost eight in a row, won their first for Coach Harland Svare when Danny Villanueva kicked two 27-yard field goals in the final period against the Vikings.

Bendix Machinists Approve a Strike

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Machinists at the Bendix plant in Kansas City have voted to strike when their present contract expires Oct. 31.

District 71 of the International Association of Machinists voted 2,483 to 31 Sunday in favor of a strike. The district election was required, even though each of the district's seven locals, with about 4,500 members, already had authorized a strike.

Bendix also has about 4,000 nonunion employees and is the largest private employer in Greater Kansas City, a union official said.

Negotiations on a contract are continuing.

Jack Heading Toward Paris For Prestige

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus, having grabbed most of the golfing silver in the silver state of Nevada, headed for Paris today and something less tangible—prestige.

This remarkable young man, only 23, the Master's and PGA and former National Open champion, will team with Arnold Palmer to represent the United States in the Canada Cup matches.

Admittedly, any francs he wins in France will not disturb Nicklaus' income tax status much in this country.

Nicklaus won the $70,000 Sahara Invitational Tournament Sunday with a come-from-behind 69 for a 72-hole score of 276. He did it with his second big rally in four days.

The first came after a disastrous 75 in the first round, which left him eight strokes behind the leader that day, Al Geiberger.

Nicklaus trailed the 26-year-old Californian by two strokes going into the final nine holes. Then Nicklaus poured it on, and Geiberger had to settle for a tie with Gary Brewer, each with a 70 for 277.

Nicklaus collected $13,000, the same sum he earned in winning the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions last spring. He also won a $4,000 automobile.

It boosted his official PGA earnings for the year to $98,990.

Nicklaus said he would kind of like to hit the 100 grand figure before the year is out. He'll play in Australia and then try to reach the goal in the Cajun Classic in Lafayette, La.—home of the golfing Hebert brothers, Jay and Lionel—next month.

Most observers thought that the big hole for Nicklaus was the 14th, where Geiberger had a bogey for the third straight day. Jack got his par and took the lead.

Geiberger—obviously the gallery favorite in the role of the under-dog—barely missed a 40-foot putt on the 18th for a birdie which would have meant at least

Scary Weekend In Big Colleges

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It wasn't a black Saturday like the previous week for the nation's top-ranking college football teams, just a scary one.

Texas, Wisconsin and Pitt, ranked 1-2-3 in The Associated Press poll, each preserved their unbeaten and untied slates, but just barely. The same went for Dartmouth, which extended to 15 the nation's longest winning streak for major teams. It had to uncork a hipper-dipper play in the closing minutes to beat Holy Cross, 13-8.

Texas took an early lead against Arkansas, then hung on desperately to pull out a 17-13 victory over the Pikers. Tony Crosby, the shoeless kicker, booted a key field goal for the Longhorns.

Iowa gave Wisconsin fits, but the Badgers eked out a 10-7 victory on Dave Fronek's 20-yard field goal. And Pitt had to come from behind to beat West Virginia 13-10 on a 46-yard sprint by Paul Martha in the last quarter.

Texas, the Southwest Conference leader, now has a 5-0 record. Wisconsin, tops in Big Ten, is 4-0 as is Pitt, an independent rated the best in the East. This week Texas plays Rice, Wisconsin meets Ohio State and Pitt tangles with Navy.

Ohio State, No. 4 in last week's AP poll, took a 32-3 shellacking from Southern California, last year's national champions, while Navy No. 10, rounded from its Southern Methodist defeat, to whip Virginia Military 21-12.

Unbeaten and untied Auburn and Jimmy Sidle got into the national picture by walloping Georgia Tech, No. 8, 29-21. Mississippi, No. 5 blanked Tulane 21-0, but Oklahoma, No. 6, had to go all out to beat Kansas 21-18. So did seventh-ranked Illinois, which capitalized on fumbles to beat Minnesota 16-6. Alabama, No. 9, with Joe Namath passing for three TD's, crushed Tennessee 35-0 and Northwestern, tied for No. 10 with Navy, romped against Miami of Ohio 37-6.

In games this week Mississippi plays Vanderbilt, Oklahoma takes on Kansas State, Illinois meets UCLA, Georgia Tech meets Tulane; Alabama encounters Houston and Northwestern battles Michigan State.

Unbeaten but tied Duke defeated Clemson 35-30 and remained tied with North Carolina for the lead in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Leaders in the other major conferences are Virginia Tech in Southern Conference; Washington and UCLA tied in the Big Six; Utah in the Western Athletic; Auburn in the Southeastern; Nebraska and Missouri in the Big Eight; Cincinnati and Wichita in the Missouri Valley and Massachusetts in the Yankee.

Five-hundred and twenty-five students, 23 advisors, and 20 mothers from 23 chapters heard S-C's Janice Steele, Scarlett Cooper, and Sheryl Rodgers discuss the topic "Now Abide These Three." Miss Anita Mooneyhan, accompanied by Miss Penney Nichols, sang "Bless This House."

TODAY THE BEST ADDITIVES MAKE THE BEST GASOLINES

"O. K., SKELLY MAN, WHY SHOULD I SWITCH TO YOUR GASOLINE?"

A quick one-word answer is: "Keotane." Keotane® is the additive Skelly developed to attack, head-on, one of the main causes of engine trouble—excess carbon. Carbon steals gasoline. It robs your engine of pep and power. Keotane was developed specifically to help prevent carbon build-up as you drive. We know of no other additive like it. In fact, Keotane is so different that Skelly has been granted U. S. Patent No. 2,878,109 covering its use.

Your next question might be, "How can Skelly Keotane Gasoline be different from other major brands from the same pipeline?" The answer is that Keotane is added to Skelly premium gasoline AFTER the gasoline comes out of the pipeline, and before it goes to Skelly stations.

Will it pay you to switch to Skelly Keotane Gasoline? Look at it this way. If Keotane can keep your engine cleaner inside . . . if it can help prevent excess carbon deposits that steal your gas and waste your power . . . shouldn't you find it out?

Try just 3 tankfuls. Check your mileage before and after switching to Keotane. See how your car idles. Note how fast it starts. Then decide for yourself.

How can you lose? If you see no improvement in power, mileage, pick-up, starting, you haven't lost a thing, because Skelly Keotane Gasoline costs no more than other major premium brands without Keotane.

But if you do get better performance, you'll know that, today, the best additives do make the best gasolines. And we think you will be convinced—as we are—that today's best additive, by far, is Keotane.

Only Skelly has Keotane.
...so different its use is patented* by Skelly

*U. S. Patent No. 2,878,109

Again Skelly says: "You Start or We Pay." Yes, Skelly pays up to $2 on each service call to get your engine started this winter when you have your Skelly Dealer winterize your car these 5 ways: 1. Fill your tank with fast-starting Skelly Keotane or Skelly Regular Gasoline. 2. Drain and refill your crankcase with Skelly Supreme or Skelly Tagolene HD Motor Oil for winter. 3. Test anti-freeze and protect for low temperature in area. 4. Test your battery for reliable winter starting power. 5. Check your transmission and differential. Then if your engine fails to start anytime up to April 1, 1964, Skelly will pay you up to $2 on each service call to get your engine started (see directions on Bonded Starting Certificate) and send you a new certificate, too! See your Skelly Dealer—protect yourself now!
